Black History Now 2018

Celebrating Today's Change Makers Presented by the Portsmouth Museums and the Portsmouth Public Library

PORTSMOUTH, VA – The Portsmouth Museums and Portsmouth Public Library are proud to present the third Annual Black History Now - Celebrating Today's Change Makers. The museums and library branches will host events and activities from January 13th to February 24th.

This year's highlights include musical performances from violinist Mr. Erik Taylor, Kuumba African Dance, and the Porte Towne Magic Orchestra. Master storyteller, Sheila Arnold will captivate visitors. There will also be special presentations and performances by The Hurrah Players and The Not-Just-For-February Players. Visitors will enjoy participating in workshops and forums including a Black History Expo. A Salute to African-Americans in the Military will round out the programs.

A complete schedule of events and activities is included below.

SATURDAY • JANUARY 13

What: Erik Taylor: Sound Safari

Where: Portsmouth Colored Community Library Museum

When: 12 – 1 pm

It's a sound safari with violinist Erik Taylor. Join Mr. Taylor on a musical journey through African-American history. Mr. Taylor's engaging high energy performance will pay tribute to the 17th – 19th century African-Americans with the traditional spirituals that were road maps to freedom.
